ALASKA INSIDE

NOTES FROM A FELLOW TRAVELLER...

Sam Deadman has been with Regent Seven Seas Cruises® for 8 years and had the fortunate opportunity to travel to Vancouver and cruise the dramatic coastline with her family a few years ago. There is no better way to tell the Inside Canadian and Alaskan story...

Vancouver is never going to be a disappointment on any level. It's a city you fall in love with as soon as you're in it. The Gastown neighbourhood is iconic and its shopping is amazing. It is truly cosmopolitan and yet, at the same time, you get this overwhelming sense of being in nature because the backdrop of trees and mountains and crisp air is profoundly mystical.

I have two stand-out experiences that I would highly recommend. The first is to see Vancouver from above with a dining experience at the top of Vancouver's revolving restaurant. It's fine dining, with the most breathtaking views across the city and beyond to Vancouver Island – and it rotates. While you're eating, the platform gently revolves so your view is always changing. My second recommendation is to visit Butchart Gardens on Vancouver Island, just outside Victoria. They're a sight to behold and serenely beautiful.

THE WILDLIFE, MYTH OR MAGICAL?

I'm not sure anything prepared me for the sheer vastness of the landscape that was on my horizon, daily. The line of enormous snow-capped peaks soaring into the blue sky is seemingly endless. It goes on and on and on. It quite literally took my breath away. And then there's the sheer vastness of the outdoors in general. The dense forests, the amount of space and clean, fresh air. It draws you in and steals your heart in an instant.

As for wildlife, it really is all around you. One morning in Banff, we woke up in our hotel to a noise outside and saw two deer eating at the side of the road. As we travelled through the Rockies, we were fortunate enough to see two baby bears playing on the edge of a huge lake, rolling around in the sunshine. And during the cruise, we saw dolphins from our balcony, plenty of eagles and we even saw humpback whales on one of the organised shore excursions.

WHAT YOU'D EXPECT TO EAT

Every meal was out of this world - the food was wonderful, and again, lots of it – be prepared as the portions are generous, and it's not all burgers and chips. If I had to pick a special moment, the top of Vancouver Tower was my favourite food memory.

THE WEATHER

We visited in early May when a cool spring day is typical, and it can be absolutely gorgeous. Lake Louise was still frozen over, yet the skies were bright blue, and the sun was shining. You could easily wear short-sleeves, but I would definitely suggest taking layers.

UNFORGETTABLE EXPERIENCES

One of the other amazing experiences was husky sledging. We flew in a helicopter across the jagged teeth of the ice-capped mountains up to an icefield. On landing, the first thing that hits you is the sound.

All we could hear was the huskies barking. We then got to meet the huskies and some of the new puppies in this quite unusual, tented village up in the air! We were then given some guidance on how to use the sleigh, the huskies were attached and off we went. The sound was thunderous as we whizzed across the ice field at speed feeling like Father Christmas on his sleigh. The experience was exhilarating and one never to be forgotten.

DON'T LEAVE ALASKA WITHOUT SEEING....

A glacier. We went out on one of the glaciers and were able to stand on it, but the vehicle that took us there was like nothing I've ever seen. The best way to describe it was like a square Lego-block for giants. The wheels were almost double my height. The tyres, to be able to cope with the icy, snowy terrain, were enormous.

VANCOUVER, CANADA

SPACE, WHERE IT COUNTS

Add Alaska to the places for you to visit in 2022, and you will be rewarded. Never before has the space around us been so significant; a quiet area to relax, a horizon to rest your eyes upon or a new day to do as you wish, and this is all encapsulated within one holiday.

Our Alaskan and Canadian cruise collections allow you to explore a part of the world that offers something unique – dramatic views of the Rocky Mountains, thrilling adventures from white-water rafting to Alaskan crab lunches, a chance to watch the beautiful yet fragile wildlife juxtaposed with the exhilarating city of Vancouver ready to be discovered right on your doorstep.

Choose from a selection of Alaskan cruises and enjoy a FREE 3-night pre- or post-cruise Vancouver Adventures. This is your time to get away, unwind and cherish the space and world around you.
